To Whom It May Concern:

I came to know Brian Boyle and Joe Nowak, Gaston Rehab Associates, after having rotator cuff surgery in January 2008. Both therapists were involved in my rehabilitation and helped me recover quickly. Not only did I find their hands-on modalities beneficial I was able to get involved in my own treatment by asking them questions and determining to what level I could push my personal rehab program. My rehab sessions always started on time and the therapist, whichever it was that day, always gave me their undivided attention.

Being the Workmen's Compensation Director for the company for which I work I am constantly on the alert for medical providers who provide premium care and are just as sensitive to the company's needs as they are the patient's. Towards the end of my rehabilitation I came to realize that Gaston Rehab was the type of medical firm I would want to treat our workmen's compensation cases. Contracting Gaston Rehab became a no-brainer when they agreed to provide on-site therapy even during off-shift hours for our injured associates. This allowed us to keep employees on the job as much as possible and still get the quality care I knew Gaston Rehab could provide. We have maintained a close working relationship since early 2008 and I couldn't be more pleased with their service. Being a consumer from two perspectives gives me special insight and I would recommend this firm to any company looking to establish a professional relationship with a physical therapy group or any individual looking for quality care post injury.

Sincerely,
